Poster #1

Denguematters

Rising incidence, continued geographic spread to previously unaffected areas and escalating seriousness of complications have all contributed to a dramatic increase in the size of the dengue problem.

Source: Dengue Matters [Online] www.denguematters.info

The WHO estimates that 2.5 billion people around the globe – 36 per cent of the world's population – are now at risk of contracting dengue.